

Five Moments in a Circle – Fanon

By Shomit Sirohi

I. First the Revolt

The moments become in fact charged fused groups and then the taking of state power and then its debates which is also the mass strike and finally the stabilization of the regime which then is also in the final moment a success.

II. Post-Revolutionary Society

Then comes the moment of institutionalization, the moment of mass strike again and public sector developments, economics and finally healthcare moments which lead to the post-revolutionary society.

(Moments graphed into the moments is finally the healthcare moment being a graph of Fidel or FLN being in fact in that long moment of healthcare problems which then is how to read this as a conjuncture and even crisis)

III. Government Visits

The next few moments include government visits and even bureaucratic work and even internationalism and finally Communist party formations of the party and state, with reflection and newspapers – even perhaps cinema and cultural revolution.
